Mum's fury as wreath stolen from grave of murdered son

BY ANNA MAUREMOOTOO

anna.mauremootoo@mk-news.co.uk

A GRIEVING mother is suffering fresh heartache after thieves stole a special wreath from the grave of her murdered son.

The wreath – designed to look like a bottle of beer – was taken from the grave of David Law who was stabbed to death in the garden of his home in Walnut Tree just over a year ago.

Mr Law, who was 33 when he died, enjoyed a drink and his brother, Adam, bought the wreath to commemorate his birthday on February 25. It had been a feature on his grave until the thieves struck.

His mother, Lynn Harbi, aged 57, from Downs Barn, said: "To steal from a cemetery is just totally heartless. Obviously people who are going there are already grieving and it's not like my son died of natural causes, he was murdered.

"His brother had the wreath specially made because he couldn't buy him a real drink on his birthday.

"It was the first of its kind and had flashing lights on it and whoever's taken it had to cut the wires to take it off the grave."

MURDER VICTIM: David Law

The wreath is between 2ft and 3ft high and was taken from Newport Pagnell Cemetery between 8pm on Monday September 17 and 5pm on Wednesday September 19.

Mrs Harbi said: "We go to his grave three or four times a week and I saw that it wasn't there on the Wednesday. I rang around the family to see if they had taken it for any reason but they hadn't. It's been really upsetting but I don't think we'll get it back."

The family have now had a new wreath made which is based on the late Mr Law's car.

Mr Law, who was a hygiene manager at Buckingham Foods where he had worked for 17 years, was murdered on September 5, 2011.

He had recently returned from a holiday in Turkey with his son, David, and his girlfriend Naureen Kahn.

Mr Law spent every weekend with his son. They took karate classes together and often went to car boot sales.

He also left behind his dad, David, and two sisters Sam and Tracy.

Suresh Nahar, 32, of Gurnards Avenue, Fishermead was jailed for life for Mr Law's murder in March.

It took a jury just 30 minutes to find him guilty of the killing of his former colleague and friend.

Anyone with information about the theft of the wreath should call Thames Valley Police on 101 and speak to PCSO David Huckle.

Our man Simon helps bring back Ryder Cup

THIS is the moment that Milton Keynes physio Simon Jones got his hands on the Ryder Cup along with two of Europe's golf heroes Lee Westwood and Nicolas Colsaerts.

Simon was not just an excited fan, he was part of the Ryder Cup team, working to keep the players in shape during the historic victory which has been dubbed the Miracle of Medinah.

The picture was taken as the jubilant team flew back on Monday with the party still in full swing.

Man mugs teenage girl of mobile phone

A 14-YEAR-OLD girl has been robbed of her phone by a man.

The teenager was walking with a friend in the direction of Eaglestone on the Four Bridges overbridge between Leadenhall and Eaglestone at around 9.10pm on Thursday when a man ran up to them and grabbed them.

The victim's friend managed to get away but the offender put his hand over the victim's mouth and demanded her BlackBerry phone which she handed over.

He then ran off, picked up a BMX-style bike and rode off in the direction of Oldbrook.

The offender is white, in his early 20s, around 5ft 8ins tall with brown hair, bushy eyebrows and a big nose.

He was wearing a black baseball cap, dark coloured trousers and black gloves and spoke with a local accent.

Police would like to speak to anyone who witnessed the offence, recognises the description of the offender, or who saw him in the area around the time of the incident.

Anyone with any information should contact DC Samantha Reynolds via the 24-hour Thames Valley Police Enquiry Line on 101.

Headline curries favour with MPs

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

A RESTAURANT owner has been speaking at the Labour Party Conference this week – as MK NEWS made an appearance at the national meeting.

Mohammed Khan, who owns Raj Douth Indian restaurant in Emerson Valley, spoke on Monday about rises in VAT and its effect on business at the conference in Manchester.

He took this paper, which reported on a campaign against the rise last week, to show Labour leader Ed Miliband and shadow chancellor Ed Balls. Mr Balls particularly liked the headline 'Naan too pleased over VAT on curry'.

Mr Khan, 42, who has stood for Labour in Milton Keynes Council elections, said: "I'm a restaurant owner and the VAT increase more than a year ago is having a huge impact.

"Suppliers are charging us more, but we can't pass that on to the customers in a recession."

He spoke for three minutes to the audience of party members on his thoughts and feelings on the issue, and said it was a great experience.

"The speech was received very well," he said. "It was brilliant – it's the first time I've been to a party conference, and it was a huge experience for me. The TV cameras were everywhere."

Andrew Pakes, the Labour Parliamentary spokesman for Milton Keynes, said Mr Khan did a good job of representing the city.

He also said Milton Keynes is being taken seriously by the party as a target for the next general election, as deputy leader Harriet Harman has 'twinned' herself with it.

He said: "Labour will win or lose the General Election at Milton Keynes."

X Factor singer reveals plans for a tour after missing out on final place

A Milton Keynes singer who missed out on a place in the X Factor live finals says he is not giving up on a music career.

James Collins – originally from Dunster Court, Furzton – and his band MITSOTU failed to impress mentor Louis Walsh and guest judge Sharron Osborne on Saturday night's show and lost out to London-based duo MK1.

Louis criticised the band's vocal strength before breaking the news on Sunday's show.

James said: "We've been really productive since we missed out on a spot in the finals. It's just meant we've got a taste for what it's like and now we want it more.

"I think Louis' comments were really unfair and the way the show was edited didn't show what we can really do.

"So we've put a video of us performing the song we did on Saturday's show on Youtube so people can see what we do."

MITSOTU are now planning a tour of school's in the UK.

James said: "We're in the process of sorting out a school's tour. It's always been important for us to show young people what they can do if they follow their dreams like we have."

Joseph flies to US for cancer therapy

BY ANNA MAUREMOOTOO
anna.mauremootoo@mk-news.co.uk

BRAVE BOY: Joseph with his mum Zoe

A BRAVE boy who was diagnosed with cancer just a month after designing a toy to raise money for the disease has flown to the US for life-saving treatment.

Eight-year-old Joseph Piggott, who goes to Monkston Primary, featured in MK NEWS in May after he won a competition to design a Calm TravelBug, with 10 per cent of its profits going to Ovarian Cancer Action.

Sadly, just one month later Joseph was diagnosed with orbital rhabdomyosarcoma, a rare form of eye cancer which affects just one in 250,000 children per year.

Joseph's mum, Zoe, said: "You never believe that your fit and healthy child could suddenly be struck down with cancer – it felt like an awful nightmare.

"I was extremely proud of Joseph when he won the TravelBug competition. He has always been very creative and loves art."

Joseph has been receiving treatment at John Radcliffe Children's Hospital, Oxford, but on Saturday he flew to Oklahoma for proton beam therapy, an advanced form of treatment not available here.

Ms Piggott said: "Joe has stayed positive and is taking it all in his stride. He has been extremely brave through surgeries and chemotherapy and his cheeky smile and sense of humour have shone through.

"His fighting spirit blows me away. He is unfazed by everything and never complains. Everybody is immensely proud of him."

Throughout his treatment Joseph and his mum have been supported by the charity Clic Sargent.

Ms Piggott said: "Their help has been outstanding from dedicated social workers to grants to help with travel expenses.

"I cannot express how grateful I am for Clic Sargent's support."

Now comedy club, The Comedy Cow, is hosting a charity night at Windmill Hill Golf Club to raise money for the charity.

Steve Powell, one of the organisers, said: "When you hear about something like this you have to do what you can to help. I'm a parish councillor for Monkston and Kents Hill, where Joseph is from, which is part of the reason I was eager to support it."

The event takes place on Friday October 26.

Land deal opens the way for a bright future

A LANDMARK £32million deal to transfer land and other assets has been agreed by MK Council and the Government.

The deal, which has been hailed as an 'important new chapter for Milton Keynes', will see assets transferred to the local authority from the Homes and Communities Agency (HCA).

Also subject of the transfer are the planning and development responsibilities that come with the land, which until now have been with the Government agencies in charge of the assets.

Since its designation as a new town in 1967 Milton Keynes has been subject to central Government involvement either by Development Corporations or, Milton Keynes Partnership Committee, a branch of the HCA.

Council leader Andrew Geary said: "Local people are now in a position to control the destiny of Milton Keynes. The council now has flexibility to manage things effectively and create growth."

Included in the transfer are sites for new homes, offices and commercial premises in central Milton Keynes and assets such as Milton Keynes Bowl and Coachway, and hundreds of smaller parcels of land.

Please don't abuse democratic process

SIR – Linda Inoki ('Unfair to limit planning application discussions', MK Letters, September 26) has raised a valid point, though one that should not be pressed too far.

The abuse of planning procedure by either side is an affront to local democracy. To restrict speaking time for objectors, seems, to me at least, an attempt to hurry through something that has already been decided, thus leaving no further recourse except through the courts – an expensive business at the best of times.

The opposite tactic, filibustering, is just as bad, if not worse. If the first pays court to the tyranny of the minority, the second, in spinning out discussion by over-emphasising minor points, is an example of tyranny by the majority!

Another objectionable practice is that of adding extra items to the discussion agenda ahead of a proposal where it seems there is strong opposition, with the intent of preventing it being discussed. Of course, when the vote goes through, it goes approved even though the objectors' side has not been heard.

From all such abuses of the democratic process, Good Lord deliver us!

Can cyclists slow down on our Redway routes

SIR – I am writing in reply to Andy Collins regarding irritating cyclists ('We should all take care on Redway cycle routes', MK Letters, September 29).

I completely sympathise with him and agree with the rules as stated by the Redway Code, that basically we stick to the right and cyclists stick to the left, as well as wearing reflective clothes, not crowding the path and so on and so forth.

Having experienced some annoying incidents myself, I have decided to give a few cyclists something to chew on before they go charging off around the next corner to scare another poor person half to death without so much as a backward glance.

Cyclists, you are not the only people on the Redways, so have some respect for those pedestrians without such a luxurious means of transport and slow down for goodness sake. What's the hurry?

Should new Primark be built underground?

SIR – Surely if the proposed Central Milton Keynes Primark store was to be constructed below ground everyone would be happy.

One only has to look at the effect the building of Midsummer Place has had on the flow of traffic to see that demolishing Secklow Gate bridge would be of considerable nuisance, as was the case when it was closed following the recent fire.

We need to revert to the original Central Milton Keynes plan and this includes demolition of the mistakenly constructed Midsummer Place.

A further advantage of building the Primark store below ground is that it could be part of the CMK access infrastructure to an underground rail line linking the Marston Vale line to Milton Keynes Central station and onward above ground to Oxford.

Nationalise the railways for a better service

SIR – I fully agree with Michael Weinberg that better scrutiny might have cut our rail costs (MK Letters, September 26). However I would like to point out Michael Weinberg got it wrong concerning the function of Network rail. Network Rail was created by the Labour government to replace Rail track. It took over the work carried out by Rail Track and its main function is to lay new tracks and maintenance of track, replacing old signalling systems, rail safety and modernisation of some railway stations. It has no say in ticket prices or the franchise system. That is left to the rail regulator and the government. Public members play only a limited role.

British Rail was subsidised by tax payer's money and when BR was privatised the government subsidy was reduced considerably. Under Tory privatisation ALL train operators were supposed to be self-financing and independent of subsidy within seven years. This hasn't happened. The government still subsidises private operators and the public is paying more than when rail was nationalised.

After private operators took over, things changed. This happened during the previous Tory administration. Rail companies introduced restricted travel at peak time and increased prices considerably. Rail companies are currently fleecing the rail user and make sure the shareholders get good dividend.

In spite of spending billions in improving the rail network, it is train operators who make money and the public don't benefit.

The best solution would be to re-nationalise train operations so the public can get better service and profits can be used for improvements. It would eliminate the abolition of tickets tied up to individual operators and eliminate pricing and ticketing systems used by different operators while introducing a uniform system for the whole country. If we had only one train operator in this area, it would stop competition between the train operators on the same route and provide better service with additional stoppage in Milton Keynes.

Urgent action needed on homeless families

SIR – It was interesting to read about the discussions in Milton Keynes regarding rents for some new properties standing empty (MK NEWS, September 26).

What is even more shocking is the fact that the number of homeless MK families in B&B establishments has doubled in the last two years.

The lack of affordable homes has been ignored by MK council for years and the Government has paid scant attention to this problem.

Homeless families deserve to be treated with dignity and respect – not farmed out to B&B's in Wellingborough and Dunstable, miles from family and friends.

With unemployment in MK rising and Government cuts to housing and other benefits, the absence of affordable homes adds to a toxic cocktail which could result in a huge increase in homelessness unless action is taken.

Thanks for some great service with a smile

SIR – I'd like to tell people about a brilliant example of customer service in a shop in Milton Keynes.

I'm somewhat disabled and asked for some help when I went into the store. 'What do you need?', came the reply from one of the assistants called Lynn. She found a flat-bed trolley and off we went to get 125 litres of compost, three bags of sand, two bags of gravel and four building blocks.

She even operated the self-service till for me and helped load my car. All while we chatted and joked. This is outstanding service. So thank you Lynn. Of course I won't reveal the name of the store, except to give you a clue. The second letter of the alphabet and the 17th.

Jon Brett's City Life

His column written exclusively for MK NEWS

AUTUMN is a lovely time, particularly in Milton Keynes, and while out walking our dog Charlie near Furzton Lake I noticed that the trees were full of conkers.

A few had fallen already and I couldn't resist picking them up and marvelling at the beauty of the deep mahogany colour and swirl of the pattern, and I said to Charlie: "Why are conkers not popular anymore?". He just stared at me, because if I had a talking dog, this story would be on the front page.

When I was young, as soon as they hit the ground, I'd be scooping them up by the bagful, if not trying to pick the big ones off the trees.

And it got me thinking; when I was younger, it was all about playing outdoors on bikes, or at the park, and at this time of year, threading shoelaces through conkers and smashing the living daylights out of my opponents' conkers in the playground.

No doubt there's a health and safety manual published somewhere about the dangers of playing conkers but in the big scheme of things I would have thought it was far safer on the brain than playing some 'mutant death and destruction' war game on a games console in your bedroom with no other human interaction?

I guess conkers aren't cool anymore. Which makes me sad. Because in my mind it shows how young people have changed, interested more in gadgets and designer goods, than appreciating the natural beauty around them.

I looked down at Charlie, and I'm sure he winked at me, then I realised that maybe he was listening after all because I noticed his contribution to the earth/life cycle – which I swiftly picked up and deposited in the bin.

WINNER: Simon Jones was part of the team which retained the Ryder Cup for Europe

Physio Simon has hand in cup glory

BY DAN PALMER
dan.palmer@mk-news.co.uk

IT WAS one of the most dramatic events in sporting history – and a city physio was right in the thick of the action.

Simon Jones was a member of Team Europe at the Ryder Cup this weekend and the 49-year-old had a key role to play as the trophy was sensationally retained.

He helped to nurse and prepare star golfers such as Ian Poulter, Justin Rose and Luke Donald as they helped Europe to an astonishing comeback win over a stunned United States.

"I've done sports physio for 20 years but this eclipses everything," Simon, from Deanshanger, said. "The whole week was the most unbelievable experience."

Poulter was the catalyst for the famous 14½-13½ triumph, which came after Europe had trailed 10-6 going into the singles on the final day, Sunday.

The Woburn Golf Club pro is someone Simon knows well, as he works with him personally on the PGA Tour.

It means that the physio, who is lead clinical specialist at BMI Manor Hospital in Biddenham, can claim to have contributed to the historic triumph.

He said: "Some players had a few knocks and niggles throughout the week, although Ian was well conditioned going into the weekend. Hopefully, I can say that I have played a small part."

At one stage, Simon looked at the scoreboard and felt that coming back would be too big an 'ask', but that feeling soon changed on Sunday morning. He later stood on the 18th green as Germany's Martin Kaymer sunk the putt which sealed glory at Chicago's Medinah club.

"I drove in with Ian and Justin that morning and as we chatted I thought we've got this," he said.

"The feeling in the locker room was that we wouldn't go down without a fight, and Jose Maria Olazabal gave this rousing speech which was the catalyst.

"I couldn't watch at the end, I was so wound up and it was head in the hands stuff.

"But then one of the guys lifted me up in the air and I knew we had it."

According to Simon, the European celebrations went on into the night.

"They finished on the plane coming home," he said.

CHEERS: Macintyre opens its new temporary coffee shop in The Point

Coffee mates move into The Point

A POPULAR charity café has a new home at one of the city's most iconic buildings.

MacIntyre's Coffee Shop, which has been operating at Great Holm for more than 20 years, moved into The Point on Monday, where it will stay while their site on Haddon is redeveloped.

Sadie Scott, manager of the coffee shop, said: "It's a fantastic opportunity to be in the centre of Milton Keynes and to be able to operate in such terrific facilities, including a very large seating area and lots of customer potential from the other users of The Point and passing trade.

"We are sad to leave our coffee shop at Great Holm and customers who have been so supportive, but we'll be back this time next year in a lovely new coffee shop with up to date facilities."

Health watchdog warns care home

adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

A HEALTH watchdog has warned a Milton Keynes care home of possible legal action unless it improves the way it administers its medicines.

The Care Quality Commission (CQC) has issued a formal warning to Milton Keynes Community Care Services, which cares for disabled people, following an unannounced visit by inspectors to the facility in Fletchers Mews, Neath Hill, on August 28.

Inspectors found that old batches of prescriptions which should have been returned to the pharmacy were being administered to residents. They also discovered discrepancies between the amount of medicines administered and the amount left in stock at the service. They also found that some medication records were incomplete, inaccurate and unsigned by staff.

Andrea Gordon, deputy director of operations for CQC, said: "This warning sends a clear message that Milton Keynes Community Care Services needs to address this issue or face further consequences.

"Our inspectors will return in the near future and if we find that the required progress is not made we won't hesitate to use our legal powers to protect the people who use this service."

Disability charity Scope, which runs the home, said it is disappointed when any part of its service falls below 'the high standards we set ourselves'.

Russell Evans, services area manager for the charity, said: "While our investigation into this issue has found no adverse impact on anyone who uses our service, this is not a situation we take lightly. Since the inspections we have scrutinised our procedures and put in place a more robust system of stock control and auditing of records.

"We have also increased training and development of staff and are working with the management team to embed these new procedures."

The CQC gave the charity until Sunday to make the improvements.

Milton Keynes Council said it will work with the home and the CQC to develop an improvement action plan.

MKNEWS BRIEFS

Village road restricted

ROAD restrictions will be put in place this month on Olney Road, south of Soames Close in Lavendon, as part of work which will continue into 2013. The road will be reduced to a single lane.

Cyclists 'not noticed'

DRIVERS in Milton Keynes are failing to notice cyclists on the city's roads, according to a new poll. The Department for Transport's THINK! campaign has found only 25 per cent of motorists are aware of their two-wheeled fellow travellers. Councillor John Bint, cabinet member for transport and highways, is now urging cyclists to use the redways instead.

Police claim burglars are cashing in on gold price

WARNINGS about darker nights have been issued by the police after Asian jewellery was stolen in a burglary.

A house in Bleasdale, Heelands, was targeted by a burglar who gained entry by forcing a door at the rear of the property between 10am and 3pm on Wednesday, September 26,

DC Wendy Cissell, of local CID in Milton Keynes, said: "I would like to speak to anyone who may have witnessed any suspicious activity around the time of the incident.

"I would also like to remind people to check their home security and follow our crime reduction advice. The price of gold makes it very attractive to thieves and it can be easily and quickly disposed of.

"We want to stop precious items getting into the wrong hands.

"Any information to assist us with this crime, or the location of the jewellery, would be treated in strictest confidence, so I would urge anyone with information to call 101."

Pushy Salesmen? Not With Cloudy2Clear!

Cloudy2Clear Windows, the Milton Keynes based window repair company, are revolutionising how homeowners view double glazing in our area. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as customers take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Billy Harley, is convinced that much of his success is down to the fact that he employs tradesmen, not salesmen. 'If you think about it, who wants to deal with the dreaded double glazing salesman? The thought of going through the whole tedious process of haggling with someone who arrives at 7 at night and then camps themselves in your house until midnight is not one most people find attractive. A lot of our customers are elderly and can feel very pressurised by sales tactics. We set out from day one to be very different.'

Billy makes very sure his customers are looked after right from the first time Cloudy2Clear arrive at the house. 'All our staff arrive in uniforms so the customer knows who they are and I insist that they wear plastic overshoes to protect the customers carpets. We then measure the windows that have a problem and price the job up there and then, which usually takes around 15 minutes. If the customer wants the job doing we'll arrange installation but if they want to call us back later that's fine. What I don't want to hear from any of my customers is that they felt pushed into anything. It's just not our style. We're trying to give the glazing industry a reputable face and the evidence of my order book tells me my customers like our approach.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Billy a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be more than happy to help!

Owner's shock as men return bikes

BY DAN PALMER

dan.palmer@mk-news.co.uk

MEN who took two bikes from a shop returned to the scene to hand them back after a Facebook campaign and a story in MK News.

Last month this newspaper reported how two men wheeled the brand new mountain bikes out of Roy Pink Cycles in Newport Pagnell.

Pictures of the pair were posted on Facebook and swiftly shared around, meaning hundreds of eyes were soon trying to track them down.

The campaign worked, as after six days the men turned up at the shop to the shock of manager Alex Pink.

One bike, a silver, black and blue Giant Talon 0 29'er, costing £850, was returned, but the second, a silver and orange Giant Roam 1, worth £950, is still missing.

According to Mr Pink, the men told him that they went to look for it after throwing it into a bush, but it was a gone.

However, he said that getting one back was 'better than none'.

He said: "I was gobsmacked, it's unheard of. The bottom line is that the campaign has forced them into doing it. It's all down to community spirit and that's phenomenal."

Mr Pink added that the men had shown guts to turn up as they did, but he wasted no time in telling how the theft had affected his shop.

"I gave them a bit of a life lesson and they were devastated," he said.

"We may look like a big shop but we're just a little family business and to lose nearly £2,000 is detrimental to us.

"It meant that we had to work harder and see our children even less."

The returned bike will not be sold on as Mr Pink can no longer vouch for its quality, but he is hoping to be refunded for both.

LIFE LESSON: Alex Pink had strong words with men

Award nomination 'overwhelms' Rob

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

THE Pride of Britain could be right here in Milton Keynes, as a council neighbourhood warden has been nominated for the prestigious national prize.

Robert Harriman works with communities in Fishermead and Oldbrook on behalf of Milton Keynes Council, and has been honoured for his dedication with the nomination.

Rob, 48 from Bradville, was put forward by his sister Debbie earlier in the year after facing extreme personal hardship following the death of his mother, and being involved in a severe car crash just one week later.

He said: "My sister felt I was very low after my mum died in February, saw the awards advertised on TV, and thought it would help to pick me up.

"I'm overwhelmed by it to be honest, I just feel like I'm doing my job."

Over the last nine years Rob, pictured, has initiated a number of schemes to help improve the quality of life for people living on the estates he looks after.

That includes an initiative, reported by MK NEWS, in which he took schoolchildren out looking for litter, graffiti, vandalism and other environmental issues, and then got them to report it to the council.

He said: "In my job, I'm on the ground, out on the estates 95 per cent of the day, and I also go to evening meetings, so that people can engage with me. When I'm on holiday I never put my phone down."

Rob will now appear on ITV Anglia for the regional heat, and the public will be asked to vote for their favourite to send them through to the national final in London at the end of October.

Rob added: "My partner and family give me so much support, and without them I'm not sure if I would have carried on."

More police may carry Taser guns

BY ADAM GRINSELL
kirsten.rawlins@mk-news.co.uk

MORE police could soon be patrolling the City streets armed with Taser stun guns, it has been revealed.

Thames Valley Police (TVP) is carrying out a review to decide whether the device, which delivers a strong electric current to stun would-be offenders, should be more widely used.

The discussions come as a response to a rise in assaults against police officers, although TVP Chief Constable Sara Thornton says the review was started prior to the killing of two female PCs in Manchester.

She said: "Assaults on officers were coming down from over 300 a year to below 250, but it's begun to go up in the last two or three years, and I'm concerned."

At present only armed response officers carry the weapons but this could change following the review. The Chief Constable is set to receive a report in December.

The TVP Police Federation welcomed the move, and says it has raised its concerns about officer safety with the Chief Constable.

Andrew Viney, the joint branch board secretary, said: "If the evidence says every officer should have a Taser, that's fine, or maybe every car is another option.

"It might be that in rural areas where armed response times are longer, more officers could have Tasers, or maybe there are more attacks in Milton Keynes so more officers there should have them."

A debate over arming officers has been sparked after two female officers were killed in in Greater Manchester.

Mr Viney added: "At the end of the day Tasers aren't the answer to all the questions, and neither are fire arms."

Meeting is set up to quell 'mosque' fears

BY ANNA MAUREMOOTOO

anna.mauremootoo@mk-news.co.uk

RESIDENTS worried that a 'mosque' will be built in their area have the opportunity to discuss the concerns at a public meeting.

Members of religious group Dawoodi Bohra MK (DBMK) plan to build a community centre on land in Old Farm Park and Wavendon Gate which is owned by Milton Keynes Community Foundation (MKCF).

MKCF take on sections of land around the city and give it to community groups, but some residents have concerns about what DBMK will use the land for.

Cheryl Lyme, who lives close to the proposed development, said: "Its only natural to have concerns that if they are allowed to build here they'll build a mosque and – although I am all for integration – I think it's fair to say that such a building would look out of place."

Ward councillor Lee Barney has now organised a meeting between residents and DBMK so that everyone in the community has a better understanding of the proposals.

He said: "I've had a lot of residents contact me with their concerns because of the 'propaganda' they have heard, but Dawoodi Bohra have assured me they do not want to build a mosque.

"Ultimately, I will listen to the people because they have elected me. If the centre is welcomed then I will support it and if it's not I won't, but I think it's important that everyone gets a clear understanding of exactly what it is that the Dawoodi Bohra want to do."

DKMB wish to open up the centre for the wider community to use and are considering providing a nursery facility and midwifery centre.

DBMK spokesman Norman Rangwala, said: "There has been a lot of misinterpretation. There is not going to be a mosque. We want to build a community centre for our community that will also be open to the wider community."

The public meeting will take place at MK SNAP on Thursday October 18 at 7pm.

Pupils to taste life down on the farm

CHILDREN at Brooklands Farm Primary School have had an exciting visit from their agricultural neighbours who arrived in grand style on their tractor and trailer.

The pupils were introduced to farmer Nigel Richards and his son Tom, who farm the land at Brooklands, because when the new school year starts in September, life on the farm will be incorporated into their learning curriculum.

Children will see, learn about and experience first-hand growing and harvesting wheat and barley, hay making and looking after cattle.

Shedding new light on health

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

MEN in Sheds were polishing their tools in preparation for a visit from the deputy mayor this week, as he opened their new workshop.

Members of the group, which was set up in March, now have a huge space in Kiln Farm in which to meet and work after it was officially opened by Councillor Brian White on Monday.

The group is for older men, or 'shedders', to socialise, pursue hobbies or interests, share or learn new skills and help with community initiatives.

The new warehouse on Burners Lane will now provide them with extra room to practise wood and metal working, model making, gardening, photography and even cookery.

John Hancock, 69 from Fullers Slade, is a fully signed-up shedder.

He said: "Chaps tend to miss a working environment.

"I've got a workshop at home, but this is about the company and socialising."

Age UK MK says the project can help tackle isolation and loneliness in retired men.

And as Cllr White said in his opening speech, it can also help them to deal with health issues.

"Health is something people like me can get very embarrassed about," he said.

"To have the kind of project to help people like me deal with something like that is great."

Already, Age UK MK says the project has helped one shedder, who had a health problem. Other members convinced him to go to the doctor and get checked out.

It is also intended that younger men can learn from the shedders to get new skills such as woodwork.

Former mayor Jan Lloyd has donated thousands of pounds worth of tools that her husband Haydn left when he passed away.

She said: "My husband taught disaffected youngsters, and the fact his tools are going to be used by those who appreciate it is just perfect."

If you want to get involved call 01908 267126 or e-mail info@meninshedsmk.org.uk.

New video released for fundraising song

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

A NEW music video has just been released to promote the song I'll Be There which is raising money for a popular charity.

The charity single is described as 'a song of love and caring', and written by John Hawkes who was touched by the services at Willen Hospice over a decade ago.

Not only was the writer moved to create the song, which he has donated so that the hospice can raise vital funds, but it also has special meaning to singer Gilly Giddings because her father was looked after at Willen in 2010.

Describing Willen Hospice, Gilly said: "It is a place that said to me 'let's embrace life, let's celebrate it, let's focus on the good we can do here'.

"Willen gave my dad his life back during his stay — it was the most comfortable he had been in a long time.

"It is a truly inspiring place and I'll never, ever forget the support and kindness."

Filmed in the hospice grounds, it is hoped that the video will raise funds and also relay a message of love and caring.

IN HARMONY: John Hawkes and Gilly Giddings

A spokesman said: "We are thrilled that a video has been completed for this beautiful song, so kindly donated to the Hospice by John Hawkes and sung by Gilly Giddings.

"The CD would make a wonderful gift in anybody's Christmas stocking this year, and the launch of the video will coincide with Hospice Care Week, which runs from October 8-14. The CD is available to buy in all Willen Hospice shops, or via www.willen-hospice.org.uk, or donations can be made via our JustGiving page on the website."

Children's centre saved by mums

BY ADAM GRINSELL
kirsten.rawlins@mk-news.co.uk

A POPULAR children's centre has been saved and reopened after a new franchisee stepped in to buy the business.

Gymboree, on the first floor of Midsummer Place in CMK, shut in June leaving more than 60 children with nowhere to go.

Management at the centre was looking for other takers to fill the unit, but a parent who previously used Gymboree stepped in at the 11th hour.

Karen McKenzie, the new owner, said: "I realised one of the highlights of my week was being with my children at Gymboree and seeing how they benefited from the class and how it helped bond us as a family."

The centre offers family classes, art classes, baby play and a host of other children and parent services, and now has 200 kids signed up to attend over the next few weeks.

Midsummer Place centre manager Martin Hindson said: "I am delighted that Gymboree has been able to remain open at the centre, it is a brand that is recognised and highly recommended by parents across Milton Keynes and customers would have been sad to see it go".

KIDS STUFF: Mum Karen McKenzie at Gymboree

Karen's business partner Sherrie Oxnard already runs a Gymboree elsewhere.

She said: "I know from experience how valuable Gymboree can be to retailers as we have parents and carers throughout the day enjoying our classes in music, art, and play and learn, who then go on to eat lunch or shop.

"We aim to be open seven days a week, with parties for little ones throughout the weekend."

To book a free trial class at Gymboree contact the team on 01908 679548 or visit www.gymboree-uk.com.

New homes plan lands in bunker

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

A BATTLE against a plan to tear up part of a golf course to clear the way for housing is over.

Objectors to a proposed 89-dwelling housing estate, to be built on part of Windmill Hill Golf Course in Bletchley, have been celebrating after the plan was given the ultimate boot last week.

On Wednesday the planning inspector threw out an appeal by Golf Course Management to build the homes, after Milton Keynes Council initially refused the plan in September last year.

West Bletchley Town councillor Derek Hircock said: "In West Bletchley we are very short of green space and we lack the road infrastructure to deal with the traffic that could be generated.

"I will continue to work with residents to ensure that we oppose any future attempts to build housing on this land."

Planning inspector John Braithwaite did not think traffic would be an issue, although he did agree with Cllr Hircock with regards to green space. But he did think the proposals could improve the golf course.

Celebrating: Campaigners Derek Hircock, Tony Mabbott and Tony Phillips

His main concern was not all options had been explored as to what could be built, giving the example of the possibility for a nursing home instead of housing.

In the report he said: "It has not been demonstrated that only a housing development on the appeal site would provide the necessary funds for the improvements to the golf course, and it has not been demonstrated that there is not an unmet need for community facilities in the area.

"If the land not used by the remodelled golf course was to be taken up by housing, then the opportunity would be missed to meet a possible unmet need for a community facility in the area."

THAT FAR! An animated Greg enthrals Town Mayor David Hopkins

JUST CHAMPION: Greg unveiled this plaque to celebrate his amazing achievement. There's also a gold strip marking out the full distance

BY ANNA MAUREMOOTOO
anna.mauremootoo@mk-news.co.uk

THE city's golden boy, Greg Rutherford, has been honoured with an open-topped bus tour to celebrate his amazing Olympic success.

Thousands of adoring fans flocked to his home town Woburn Sands on Friday to get a glimpse of the Bletchley-born gold medalist.

Rutherford unveiled a plaque at Mowbray Green commemorating his 8.31-metre winning jump.

Rutherford said: "It's out of this world. I never expected this many people to come.

"It's a shame that it's so long after the Olympics but it's an amazing way to end an amazing summer."

Rutherford has become accustomed to the spotlight with TV and radio appearances in the last couple of months but life should soon be getting back to normal.

Rutherford's girlfriend of eight years, Liz Rose, said: "I've hardly seen him since the Olympics. He seems to be living in London."

Asked if the couple had any plans to marry, Liz said: 'One day, but not in the near future."

Asked about his future plans, Greg, a keen baker in his spare time, joked: "I could possibly bring out a cookbook, who knows!"

He now plans to scale down his public appearances and concentrate on training again.

An Olympic civic reception was held at stadiummk on Saturday and was attended by Olympian Bobby White, Paralympians Gabi Down and Alistair Patrick-Heselton, torch-bearers and games makers.

Were you at Rutherford's parade? Visit our photo sales at www.mk-news.co.uk to see if you can spot yourself in the crowd.

Get Milton Keynes thinking campaign

Join in the Stephen Perse Foundation's Get Milton Keynes Thinking campaign. Every week, for four weeks, we'll be posing a philosophical question for you to answer here in the MK News. The questions will be similar to those asked of the children at the Stephen Perse Foundation's schools in Cambridge as part of our unique curriculum. They are designed to exercise the mind in exploring possible solutions to something that has no right or wrong answer but can be viewed from many different perspectives. The results are always interesting and intriguing and sometimes very entertaining!

You can see some of our children at work in a short film on the MK News website www.mk-news.co.uk

This week's question is:

Can creativity be taught?

Q A

If you'd like to take part, please give this some thought and then post your response on the MK News homepage: www.mk-news.co.uk

We look forward to hearing what you think and to publishing a selection of the best responses.

Come back to this page again next week for the final instalment.

In the pink for a £10k fundraiser

BY ANNA MAUREMOOTOO
anna.mauremootoo@mk-news.co.uk

RESIDENTS are 'painting' their town pink this month in a bid to raise up to £10,000 for new equipment at Milton Keynes Hospital.

Stony Stratford's High Street has been transformed to support the MK NEWS backed Touch of Pink Appeal which aims to raise a total of £80,000 for a new x-ray machine.

Throughout Breast Cancer Awareness Month 800 metres of pink bunting will adorn High Street and several of the shops will have cerise window displays.

Adding a touch of sparkle to the campaign is bespoke jewellers Spadini Oro who are auctioning an 18ct pink diamond ring worth £1500 for the cause.

Owner Max Spadini, said: "The ring is ready to be collected by the hospital and auctioned for such a good cause on a date they choose. We're happy to help."

More than 20 Stony-based businesses are getting into the pink spirit including The Cock hotel which is holding a Touch of Pink Floyd night on October 12.

Vanessa Holmes, the hospital's fundraising manager, said: "We've focused on Stony because the Breast Cancer Unit is currently screening here.

"People are getting involved in lots of different ways and love the fact that they know the money is going to a great, local cause."

The appeal has been running since April and so far a sizeable £54,000 has been raised. It is hoped that all the events running throughout October will bring the total up to £64,000.

If you would like to raise funds for the Touch of Pink Appeal call 01908 826690 or email fundraising@mkhospital.nhs.uk.

Open University voted best in student survey

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

Delighted: Open University vice chancellor Martin Bean

A CITY-BASED university has come out on top as the highest rated university in a National Student Survey.

The Open University (OU) outperformed all others to be the highest rated in overall student satisfaction in the National Student Survey 2012.

And the success doesn't stop there, with a ranking of third in the top 10 higher education institutions in the UK, which beat the Oxbridge universities.

Martin Bean, vice chancellor at The OU, said: "I'm absolutely delighted that our students have given us this accolade. Their responses show that The Open University's combination of flexible study, world-class teaching and individually tailored support, backed by 6,500 associate lecturers, continues to provide students with the best possible experience of higher education."

In the survey, produced by The Higher Education Funding Council for England (HEFCE), The OU received an overall satisfaction rate of 93 per cent from students in the UK.

Kate Seymour studied for a Post Graduate Certificate in Education with the OU and is now a maths teacher at Radcliffe School. She said: "I found The OU really supportive. Every time I needed help there was someone on the end of the phone.

"You feel secure when you submit a piece of work when you know exactly what to submit.

"Because they are a distance learning institution there's a worry you will get abandoned, but you don't at all – I didn't feel alone at any point."

Mark Lancaster, MP for Milton Keynes North, added: "We are lucky to be home to The Open University in Milton Keynes and the results of the National Student Survey confirm the excellent quality of the education."

Voluntary groups get cash support

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

THE city's leading grant-making charity is holding a series of ten workshops to show how it can provide cash support to local voluntary groups.

Throughout this month the MK Community Foundation, which provides £1 million in grants to organisations in Milton Keynes, is getting out and about to highlight the services it offers to charities and community groups.

"At MK Community Foundation we are working hard to recruit groups to www.localgiving.com, an online fundraising tool, to help them to raise vital funds for their work," said Shahnaz Hussain, a development officer with the group.

"We are keen to ensure that communities in Milton Keynes know more about the range of services we offer, and we're looking forward to meeting charities and groups as we take to the road."

Also taking part in the initiative is Community Action:MK, which provides support to voluntary groups and charities in the area and helps them to develop.

ROAD SHOW: Gareth Eglinton-Pacitti from Community Action:MK and Kirsty McCall of the Community Foundation

Gareth Eglinton-Pacitti, from Community Action:MK, said: "We love meeting new and existing groups, hearing about all their great activities and doing our best to support them do what they do best – making Milton Keynes a hub of community activity and giving their users an improved quality of life."

The groups can give advice on funding, getting new members and other practical issues.

The first workshop took place at Madcap Theatre in Wolverton yesterday, so to find out when the others are happening go to www.mk-news.co.uk.

Creating our schools'

THE education system has been making the headlines for all the wrong reasons in recent weeks but, as ANNA MAUREMOOTOO reports, the opening of a new Leadership and Training Centre (LTC) in the city has come as a beacon of light, proving that the future is not as gloomy as some may think.

LAST Thursday, Shenley Brook End School welcomed Brian Lightman, general secretary of the Association of School and College Leaders (ASCL), to the centre, which aims to train and develop school leaders across and beyond Milton Keynes.

The centre carries the tag line 'growing successful people' – a noble aim, but in a climate of pay freezes and reduced funding it's also a challenging one.

However, senior deputy head-teacher and principal of the LTC, Chris Holmwood, is confident the centre will help shape school leaders through accredited and bespoke leadership programmes.

He said: "This is something the school has been doing for a while and we now have the opportunity to support many more schools more widely.

"My aspiration would be that we enable teachers to grow in their skills and confidence to develop their leadership potential and that we contribute to the creation of an educational climate that makes it possible for children and young people to do the same.

leaders of the future

"I want people to be successful because of their school not in spite of it. It is a privilege to have the support of the ASCL in this, and we very much appreciate Brian's visit."

It's a busy time for Mr Lightman, who has been general secretary of ASCL for two years.

He has been asked to take leadership in the battle to have GCSE English exams remarked and the onset of industrial action by the teaching unions.

He has also participated in the main three political party conferences.

But the in-demand man took time out to spend a day at Shenley Brook End School, meeting with leaders, getting a grilling from the student cabinet and opening the facility, which has transformed from a fitness centre into the LTC.

He said: "I'm excited by this. It's fair to describe the current time as particularly challenging for school and college leaders.

"We try to do everything we can to influence these things in the interest of the young people in our care. There has never been a greater need for confident, courageous and resilient leaders and that's what this centre's about."

After Mr Lightman spoke, class was dismissed and as councillors, teachers and training providers poured out of the doors of the LTC there was an air of confidence that this new centre would help mould leaders who can competently deal with whatever the future throws at them.

STOP SMOKING

Quit Smoking Special Price £125.00

Local practitioner provides support for "Stoptober" Campaign

A Milton Keynes based hypnotherapist is urging the public to look for practitioners registered with the Complementary & Natural Healthcare Council (CNHC) if they want to use hypnotherapy to help them give up smoking during the NHS's Stoptober campaign.

Many people use hypnotherapy to provide extra help in the process of giving up smoking. The Complementary and Natural Healthcare Council (CNHC) is the UK regulator for complementary therapists which has been set up with government funding and support.

Rachael Slack DHP LAPHP,- owner of HypnoLife says: "Hypnotherapy is often used to help clients achieve the behavioural change needed to stop smoking but it's so important the public use someone who knows what they are doing."

"Changing the way people view their habit and finding positive alternatives and benefits is essential in enabling people to take control of their own behaviour and responsibility for their health."

Rachael Slack added that: "Hypnotherapy is one of 14 therapies registered by the CNHC. There are over 5,000 practitioners on the register and members of the public can search the CNHC register to find practitioners in their local area. More than 170,000 searches have been carried out since the register first opened in 2009."

Hypnotherapy may help with many issues from the quitting of bad habits to weight management, coping with stress and anxiety, phobias and fears and many other areas.

For further information, please contact Rachael Slack DHP LAPHP on 01908 37 77 03 or 07590034127. Email info@hypnolife.co.uk.

Top chef joins MK restaurant

A PAN-ASIAN restaurant has unveiled a brand new image as well as announcing a new award-winning head chef.

Chef Saj Khan, who was named the Best Asian Chef in Milton Keynes 2012, has joined the team at Silk Road in CMK.

He's designed a selection of dishes to coincide with refurbishment of the restaurant, the first of its kind since its opening in 2006.

The changes include a new wine and cocktail bar area as well as a 'lighter and fresher feel', according to general manager Hoq Abdul.

He added: "The Silk Road has built up a strong and loyal following but needed an injection of energy to bring it in line with what today's diners expect. The new look is one thing but our food is on a new level.

"We are absolutely delighted to welcome Saj to the team. He has taken over the kitchen and brought in great new ideas, experience and imagination that our customers can expect to see."

Morgan Sindall wins contracts at four schools

CONTRACTS to build or expand four city schools – worth a total of £7.8million – have been won by construction firm Morgan Sindall.

They include a £1.8million contract to extend Brooklands Primary School near Broughton, and a £1.8million contract to build the new Falconhurst Primary School in Eaglestone.

The company has also won a £2.5million contract to extend St Paul's Catholic Primary School in Leadenhall and a £1.7million contract to expand White Spire School, a special educational needs school in Bletchley.

Charlie Norris, construction director for Morgan Sindall, said: "Our team has achieved exceptional results and we're looking forward to the challenge of continuing to perform well over the next four years."

Fashion boutique named as one of UK's best shops

BY ANNA MAUREMOOTOO

anna.mauremootoo@mk-news.co.uk

MILTON Keynes may soon be joining Milan, New York, Paris in the list of fashion capitals after a city boutique was named as one of the best 100 shops outside London.

Doyles in Woburn Sands has made it onto the list – compiled by three fashion experts – for the second time, with the final 100 selected from thousands of quality retailers across the country.

The women's boutique was particularly commended for its diverse collections, including their selection of 'under the radar' designers.

It was one of only 39 women's designer fashion stores from across the UK to make the list, which also included chocolatiers, furniture shops and vintage clothing outlets.

Manager, Natasha McCardal, said: "We were delighted to make the Vogue top 100 yet again – to be the only women's designer boutique from the region on such a prestigious list is really gratifying.

"Vogue is an internationally respected fashion authority; to be selected from so many other high quality retailers is a real compliment. We aim to be the first choice fashion boutique for the style conscious and this accolade really endorses our choice of designers, reinforcing our reputation as the number one place to shop for women's designer fashion in the area."

The judges commended Doyles for their 'continually changing stock and unique labels' stating that 'Doyles has become a highly reputable, luxury boutique for fashion savvy customers.'

The boutique, which has been in business for 30 years, stocks a wide range of designers including Vivienne Westwood Anglomania and Paul Smith.

Ms McCardal added: "We aim to offer our customers diversity, combining more established designers such as Armani and Nicole Farhri with emerging talent."

Furniture firm in big league

VISIT one of the biggest football clubs in the world, and chances are you could sit on furniture made right here in Milton Keynes.

Larkswood Furniture recently supplied 300 chairs to Manchester United as part of a refurbishment project at the club.

Managing director Sam Spivack said: "It is an absolute honour to supply the biggest football club in the world, we are proud that Manchester United selected our chairs over others.

"We listened to the brief given and I am delighted that we delivered what was asked."

The success of the chairs has led the company to quote on other projects that are planned for other areas in the stadium.

Dealing volumes low despite increased mergers activity

LOW dealing volumes persisted throughout August and early September despite increased activity on the mergers and acquisitions front.

This has meant that the UK stockmarket has remained range-bound and it is difficult to see any significant progress in the short term due to the headwinds created by the Eurozone crisis, fears of a hard landing for the Chinese economy and the prospect of a recession in the US caused by a combination of the implementation of automatic spending cuts and ending of tax breaks.

However, some investors are holding out for further bouts of quantitative easing in economies across the globe, which should boost asset prices but which may also have inflationary consequences.

Closer to home, AG Barr entered into merger talks with Britvic and there is a deadline of October 3 for the companies to come to agreement. The company reported a fall in interim pre-tax profits to £14.9million against £16.2m for the same period last year but a 7.5 per cent increase in its dividend.

Glanbia is the best performing share in the list after an enthusiastic response to interim results which highlighted a 24 per cent rise in profits. The company also increased its guidance for earnings per share.

Slightly puzzling was the five per cent decline in the price of Walker Greenbank, the Tilbrook-based luxury interior furnishings company, as news from the company has been encouraging.

In the last few weeks it announced a positive trading statement that highlighted a four per cent increase in total sales for the six months ended July 31 as well as a joint venture with Orla Kiely, the internationally acclaimed designer, to produce a new collection of wallpapers. Interim results were due yesterday and hopefully provide the basis for further upside to the share price. Charles Stanley's analyst rates the shares a buy.

Get early specialist help if you're going to court

A REPORT in the Daily Telegraph last month warns that the number of drivers caught speeding is set to rise as speed cameras make a comeback across the country.

The renewal programmes could see new digital cameras being introduced that never run out of film, catching every speeding driver. Public opinion on the use of cameras remains sharply divided. Many motorists feel that cameras are used more to generate revenue rather than the declared objectives. Others say speed cameras help promote safer driving and reduce death and serious injury.

With specialist devices available for use now, and even better technology on the way, speeding drivers can easily rack up 12 or more points on their licence over a three year period. It's at this point the court must disqualify a driver under totting-up rules unless the driver can put forward mitigation amounting to 'exceptional hardship'.

The loss of a licence can have a devastating impact on most people's work and personal life, particularly in the current economic climate.

There are legal arguments and representations that can be advanced on a driver's behalf to persuade the court not to impose a ban. Thorough and able preparation is key.

This is a complex area of law. The court requires evidence of exceptional hardship. The onus is on the driver who is likely to be cross examined about the impact of a ban. A driver facing the prospect of a disqualification should take advice from a lawyer specialising in motoring offences to ensure best preparation for court at an early stage.

School's plan to save £10k on heat bills

A SECONDARY school and leisure centre is testing cutting-edge biomass technology as part of a new renewable energy project.

Sir Herbert Leon Academy in Bletchley hopes to see savings of around £10,000 a year following installation of a dedicated 800kW biomass boiler, which will replace existing gas boilers in the grounds of the school.

The biomass system, from energy provider E.ON, will provide a source of lower carbon heat to the 800-student main school building and its swimming pool and fitness centre.

In total, the project will provide the site with more than 1.8million kWh of heat per year. The installation is due for completion in early November 2012.

Simon Viccars, principal of Sir Herbert Leon Academy, said: "We always strive to provide the best possible environment for our students and other users.

"We pride ourselves on excellent facilities on site and recognise that energy efficiency is an important part of this.

"Updating to the biomass boiler will help us to drive down our energy costs significantly, freeing up funds for reinvestment into the school. It also offers an important sustainable environmental message."

Thomas Buss, head of Microgen at E.ON, said: "We look forward to working with Sir Herbert Leon Academy to deliver innovation in energy efficient heating that will bring significant benefits in terms of both cost and carbon emissions."

Home buyers helped

CITY MP Mark Lancaster is supporting a scheme to help people move onto the property ladder after visiting new homes being made available to first time buyers under the government's FirstBuy and NewBuy schemes.

They have also been helping existing home owners into properties that are more suited to their families' needs.

FirstBuy enables people to buy homes with a five per cent deposit which is matched by house builder Taylor Wimpey and the Government by 20 per cent, meaning a mortgage is 85 per cent of the home value. NewBuy enables house purchase with a five per cent deposit.

After visiting Kingston Chase, one of Taylor Wimpey's developments, Mr Lancaster said: "The schemes do a great job of helping people to buy their first home."

Tina tribute musical is simply the best

A NEW musical inspired by legends Ike and Tina Turner is coming to Milton Keynes Theatre.

Featuring Casualty and Eastenders actress Emi Wokoma as Tina Turner, Soul Sister features all the classic hit songs including, What's Love Got to Do with It and Private Dancer and of course The Best.

The musical follows the highs and lows, the passions and heartbreak of Ike and Tina Turner as their careers blossomed but their marriage crumbled around them.

Tina Turner was named 'one of the greatest singers of all time' by the influential Rolling Stone magazine and has a career spanning over 50 years.

Her combined album and single sales total around 180 million copies worldwide and she has enjoyed a number of accolades for her music, including nine Grammy Awards.

You can see Soul Sister at Milton Keynes Theatre from October 8-13.

Tickets are now available from www.atgtickets.com/miltonkeynes or 0844 871 7652. Booking fee applies.

For an interview with Emi Wokoma turn to page one of MK LIFE.

TO JUMP into the shoes of 'The Best' and original diva would be a daunting task for anyone.

But relative unknown Emi Wokoma has seemingly done so with aplomb, earning rave reviews for her starring role as Tina Turner in Soul Sister on the West End.

"When I first got the part I knew it was going to be hard," Emi told MK NEWS. "Tina was my mum and dad's favourite star.

"It's a scary role to take on because the songs and her story are so well known.

"Her songs have such a place in people's musical histories and hearts, and with this story in particular, about Tina and Ike, there was so much that happened in their lives.

"So people do have an emotional attachment to them."

Emi said one of the most difficult aspects to the part is keeping up with Ms Turner, who had a reputation for high-energy performances

"I think I underestimated how fit she was when I took on the role.

"She is an energetic and flamboyant performer – she's never ever still on stage – so maintaining that through the performance is very demanding.

"But as I am a fitness instructor I tried to build up my stamina and endurance.

"I need it to be able to get through eight two-and-a-half-hour shows a week."

Apart from a couple of minor television appearances Emi is not (yet) very well known in the world of showbiz, and said she was a little surprised to be cast as Tina.

"They could have gone with a well-known name, or an American actress, so it's really an honour to have been chosen.

"I keep feeling like I'm about to be pulled out of my dressing room to be told I'm the wrong person!"

But, as the production has been running since April and picking up countless five-star reviews along the way, it would seem Emi is destined to be occupying many more leading-lady dressing rooms in the near future.

indierockers

TOP indie band The Hoosiers are bringing their distinctive pop sound to Milton Keynes.

Their first single Worried About Ray reached number five on the UK singles chart in July 2007. They released their debut album, The Trick to Life, in October 2007.

The band, made up of Irwin Sparkes (lead vocals, lead guitar), Martin Skarendahl (bass guitar, rhythm guitar) and Alan Sharland (drums, percussion), are currently in the process of picking songs for their next recording effort.

Meanwhile you can see the band at The Stables on Wednesday October 10. Tickets cost £25 from www.thestables.org.

filmperks

EMMA Watson is back on at the cinema and this time there are absolutely no wizards in sight.

For some, the young actress will always be Hermione Granger of Harry Potter fame, but the now 22-year-old is putting those days behind her and looking to appear in films which are perhaps a bit more adult.

The Perks of Being a Wallflower is one of those films and thanks to strong performances from her and male lead Logan Lerman, it's a pretty decent effort.

Based on the novel of the same name by American Stephen Chbosky, the story tells the tale of Charlie (Lerman). He chronicles several events from his life through a series of letters to an anonymous individual.

A wallflower is a term given to someone who lives on the fringes of society, and the tale is very much filled with angst as Charlie struggles with the challenges of growing up as an outsider.

This genre of film has been done before, and there are familiar plot devices such as unrequited love (felt by Charlie for Watson's character Sam) and coming of age moments inside high school walls.

It's just about original enough to work though, but be warned, things get a bit dark in the end.

MK News Rating: 4/5

His work has taken him to far flung places such as Croatia, the United Arab Emirates and even South East Asia, but now Newport Pagnell is his destination.

bigdraw

THE Big Draw returns with a ginormous battle of dinosaurs v aliens on Saturday

Part of a national campaign to get people drawing, there's lots on offer at York House on London Road, Stony Stratford, to get kids' (and big kids') imaginations flowing with a day of drawing, decorating, making and just generally having lots of fun.

There is a professional children's book author, Jonny Boatfield, on hand to help create artwork for a planet where dinosaurs rule – but now aliens have landed and an epic fight is breaking out! So get drawing terrifying dinosaurs, weird and wonderful aliens and spaceships from another world.

Refreshments will be on offer all day, and the event takes place from 10am-4pm – with a parade of monsters at the end of the day!

MK Gallery Night in Columnist

THIS week, head of Frosts Garden Design Team Simon Hawkins discusses the benefits of landscaping in autumn.

THERE is often the assumption that the window of opportunity to get a garden built is a small one, only lasting for a few months of the spring and summer.

However, in our experience here at Frosts, the impending doom and gloom of autumn's dark evenings and rainy days are in fact the best time to get your garden designed and built.

Not only is the ground soft and easily worked at this time of year, but after the hard landscaping is finished, it is the perfect time to plant trees and shrubs before the ground freezes over. The plants can then harden up over the winter ready for the spring and it's then a simple job of planting the herbaceous and then relaxing with a large glass of something cold all summer long.

With some projects taking a few months to complete there is also nothing worse than having the garden dug up all summer and having frustrated kids looking longingly out of the window at a scene resembling the Somme and wanting to go out to play.

To design and build a stunning garden that works takes time to get right and every summer there are inevitably a few disappointed folk who leave it too late to get the garden of their dreams completed in time to enjoy our seemingly ever-shortening summer.

My advice to anyone who is thinking of having any work done in their garden is to call a garden designer sooner rather than later, even if it's just for some initial advice and ideas, to talk about timings and to find out why now is the best time to be thinking about your garden.

Don't leave it too late to enjoy that glass of something cool next spring!

THIS week's Friday Night Film at MK Gallery is Stranger than Paradise.

It's about a self-styled New York hipster who is paid a surprise and quite unwelcome visit by his pretty sixteen-year-old Hungarian cousin.

After initial hostility and indifference, a strange affection grows between the two exiles.

Due to complete boredom they decide to visit their aunt in the wastelands of Cleveland and then proceed to sunny Florida where they lose all their money and unwittingly gain a fortune.

With a final ironic twist, they are at the end, back where they began.

Described as a 'unique, indelible and hilarious film' the 1984 movie starts at 6.30pm has been dubbed as one of the best of its era.

Tickets are £5 or £3 for concessions from 01908 676 900. There's a free drink for advanced bookings.

rockout

YOU'VE probably heard of Guitar Hero, the music game which allows players to button bash on plastic guitars, but now some computer game geeks have got together to allow you to plug in the real thing.

In Rocksmith, you can take virtually any electric guitar and link it up to your PC, Playstation 3 or Xbox360, courtesy of a clever adapter which connects to your jack.

It means that instead of learning to master a fake guitar, you can actually gain the satisfaction of learning to play a real life six-string.

This is a groundbreaking concept but it's the natural progression from things like Guitar Hero – it's about time we all played for real.

There's even a bundle of the game that comes complete with an Epiphone Les Paul guitar.

The game involves various skill tests to help beginners along, with 12 guitar techniques in total being taught to budding rock stars.

A number of classic songs are included such as House of the Rising Sun by The Animals and David Bowie's Rebel Rebel, and Rocksmith does become a useful learning tool.

It's enjoyable but loud, so you may want to warn your neighbours first.

Assistant boss MICK HARFORD writes exclusively for MK NEWS every week

This week Mick pays tribute to retiring Jimmy Bullard

JIMMY Bullard sadly announced his retirement on Monday due to a long running knee injury he has had during his career.

Although he was only with us for a short time, what he brought to the dressing room was without a doubt immense.

He has a great character and an excellent work ethic – while he was here he didn't miss a single training session.

Jimmy is a very infectious player and he knows his football. He has a great appetite for the game and wanted to give it one last shot.

Unfortunately, he pushed and pushed and at the end of the day he couldn't do it anymore.

He had to hold his hands up and say that he was not fit enough.

Jimmy was still in good nick but he didn't want to let his standards slip and in his mind he wasn't capable of playing at what he believed his best was.

Now, we have to wish him the best in whatever he wants to do, I know that myself and Karl will help out in any way we can.

Jimmy will always be welcome at this football club but in the meantime I know that he is a very good golfer so he'll have that to keep him occupied.

Coming in the other direction is another midfielder, Scott Allan, who has joined on a month's loan from West Bromwich Albion.

He was someone who we tried to get when I first arrived at the club and hopefully he will be a valued addition.

I've seen a lot of Portsmouth recently and when he was there he was the player who really caught my eye.

He has a lot of ability although he does need to get up to speed as he hasn't played a lot. If all goes well then there's a chance that the loan may be extended.

Eastbourne 3 MK Men's 1sts 2 and MK Men's 1sts 2 Woking HC 3

MILTON Keynes began their South Hockey League Premier Division campaign with a narrow defeat.

Brett Holland flicked home a penalty corner after Eastbourne had taken the lead, and Mark Davis squeezed the ball home when MK fell behind again.

Unfortunately, after a couple of foiled attacks it was Eastbourne who controversially scored next as a strike went in off the post.

On Sunday, the team had to return to action against Woking, but they were beaten by the same score in the England Hockey Knockout Cup tie.

Woking claimed the win in extra time after goals from Scott Craig and Andy Dixon left the score at 2-2.

Elsewhere, the 2nds started their campaign by beating Banbury 6-0, the 4ths beat Aylesbury 3-0 and MK Samurai won 4-1 at Maidenhead Boyne Hill.

Eastcote 6 MK Ladies' 1sts 0

THERE was a disappointing start for MK Ladies who fell heavily to last season's runners-up in the South Clubs' Women's Hockey League Division 3A.

In their first game since promotion last time out, Eastcote played with pace and gave MK no time on the ball and made regular breakthroughs in what turned out to be a learning experience for the team.

There was also defeat for the 2nds, who lost 2-1 to Oxford, and the 3rds who went down 4-0 to Marlow.

LOCAL FOOTBALL

GOALS from Matthew Broomes and Keith Williams could not stop fourth-placed Newport Pagnell Town from sliding to a 3-2 defeat to Stewart and Lloyds Corby, their first defeat of the season in the United Counties League (UCL).

There was better news for Olney who won 4-3 away at Bourne in the UCL Division One, but struggling New Bradwell St Peter were beaten 5-3 at Langford in the South Midlands Division One.

Stony Stratford Town won their Challenge Trophy match 5-3 at Tring Corinthians.

COVENTRY CITY 1 DONS 1 - LEAGUE ONE ATT: 9,048

Goal: Richard Wood nets from close range

Dons have to settle for a point despite chances defending, was blocked by Coventry keeper Joe Murphy as he tried to take the ball around him.

A frantic opening continued when David McGoldrick forced a fine save from Martin with a sweet low drive and Frank Moussa then sent a bouncy half-volley narrowly wide after a slick passing move from the hosts.

Coventry were passing well and creating opportunities for themselves and Baker was next to try his luck, but he lashed over at the far post.

Robins' side were playing the sort of football that Karl Robinson would have been pleased with but Dons kept them out.

That all changed when two chances arrived in quick succession for the visitors.

MacDonald was unlucky when his volley clipped the post after he had shown great strength and poise to swivel in the box but Dean Bowditch should have opened the scoring when the ball fell to him kindly moments later.

The winger had plenty of time to think about his shot but he got no power behind it and Murphy got down easily to save.

Coventry quickly punished Bowditch's miss by grabbing the goal that their earlier dominance had merited. Gary McSheffrey floated in a corner and Wood took advantage of some slack defending by thumping home a header.

Dons didn't have to wait long for their leveller. The ball dropped to Gleeson on the edge of the box and the Irishman's effort took a wicked deflection before nestling in the corner of the net.

Into the second half and McSheffrey's cross nearly caught out Martin after taking a nick before Bowditch's effort from range went narrowly wide.

Dons then had a glorious chance to force themselves in front but Powell's cross for MacDonald, who was waiting for a tap-in, was poorly hit to the visible frustration of the travelling bench.

It was end to end stuff and Cyrus Christie nodded over for Coventry.

When Dons got forward the home crowd was quick to voice its displeasure at their team and this was something Robinson's men could feed on.

Another superb chance arrived when Darren Potter's chip found Powell but despite being close to goal the Academy product could not direct his effort on target.

Dons were knocking on the door intently and putting Coventry under intense pressure and there was a dreadful miss when MacDonald was presented with the opportunity to smash in from close range.

He had ample time but he didn't get his shot away in time and his effort was eventually blocked, before Luke Chadwick's follow up also hit a visiting body.

This was a massive chance which was allowed to go begging but MacDonald nearly made amends when he was a fraction away from connecting with Bowditch's low centre.

Coventry sub Callum Ball forced Martin into a claim on his line but this was a rare trip up field for the hosts who were now hanging on at the back.

Dons were doing everything but score and Robinson threw on Alan Smith up front in place of MacDonald with 11 minutes to play in an attempt to force the breakthrough.

It wasn't to be though and the travelling fans were left to reflect on what might have been if more of a cuthroat edge had been shown from their side.

Coventry: Murphy, Baker, McSheffrey (Fleck 68) , Barton (Ball 78), Christie, Wood, Edjenguele (Cameron 68), McGoldrick, Moussa, Reckord, Bailey. Unused subs: Dunn, Hussey, Willis, Henderson.

Dons: Martin, Otsemobor, Lewington, Williams, Gleeson, Potter, Bowditch, MacDonald (Smith 79), Powell (Lowe 90), Kay, Chadwick (O'Shea 73) Unused subs: McLoughlin, Kouo-Doumbe, Chicksen, O'Shea, Allan.

Pace: Dean Bowditch threads his way past Coventry City defenders

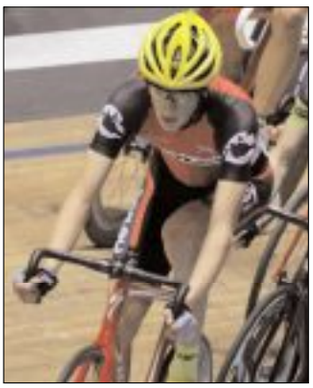
CYCLING

Ben shows pace to claim UK title



SIXTEEN-year-old city cyclist Ben Chapman and co-rider Max Stedman have become national champions in the youth madison.

The pair fought off competition from across the UK to win a thrilling race at Manchester Velodrome on Saturday.

Qualifying in fourth place after the preliminary heats meant the duo had it all to do in the final, and the result came down to a last lap sprint which saw Ben, pictured, outpace the 12 other teams to cross the line in first place, gaining sufficient points to secure victory and national jerseys for the pair.

In front of a large crowd the two cyclists worked closely and professionally together in what is a very tactical and complex 80 lap race, where each team member takes it in turn to hurl their partner into the next sprint.

Denbigh School pupil Ben, riding for Team Corley Cycles-Blue, said: "This is a fantastic achievement and I am really pleased to have been able to build on our success two weeks ago when we won the madison at the Regional Track Championships.

"Max is a great team player and we obviously work well together. I have had a pretty mixed season this year but this is a great way to end on a high having also just enjoyed victory in a road race in Belgium at the beginning of the month.

"Next year I start to ride as a junior and I look forward to the challenges and competition that will bring."

GOLF

Club's pride as Ian works more magic

IAN Poulter dazzled in Europe's miraculous Ryder Cup win over the USA this weekend, and his home course couldn't be more proud.

The 36-year-old came to embody the sheer passion and intensity of a remarkable European effort, which saw a 10-6 deficit going into the final day singles turned into a stunning 14½-13½ victory at the Medinah club near Chicago.

He kickstarted the comeback with some phenomenal putting on Saturday evening and was a general thorn in the side of the home team during the high drama of the tournament.

There were cheers all over the continent, but few would have been louder than from those connected with Woburn Golf Club, where Poulter is on board as the course's touring professional.

As he is now based in Florida, Poulter is not at Woburn too often, but he still has a home in Milton Keynes and for the club, the value of being connected with such a star name cannot be understated.

Marketing Relations Manager Glenna Beasley said: "We're all very proud, he's such a super guy and great to have around.

"We have been proud of him for a long, long time and the club is so fortunate to have him, the clubhouse has been buzzing.

"He's got time for everybody, in the summer he gave a clinic for the juniors who are all trying to emulate him as his record at Ryder Cups is unbelievable."

Poulter's Ryder Cup performances have earned him a spot in American nightmares.

He was Europe's top scorer at Valhalla in 2008 and Celtic Manor in 2010, and followed it up this time around with four points from four, a flawless record which was absolutely vital in sealing the historic success.

Pure joy: Captain Jose Maria Olazabal said a statue should be made of Woburn Golf Club pro Ian Poulter

In total, he has lost just three of his 15 Ryder Cup matches.

On the opening morning in Medinah he bagged a point alongside friend Justin Rose with a 2&1 victory over Steve Stricker and Tiger Woods in the foursomes, but the player who had to rely on being one of Jose Maria Olazabal's captain's picks was left out for the afternoon fourballs as the Americans built their lead.

He returned to action on Saturday and secured Europe's only point of the morning session when he and Rose reunited to see off Bubba Watson and Webb Simpson with a 1 up foursomes win.

It was the evening session when he really made his mark though, with a hugely significant 1 up fourballs victory over Jason Dufner and Zach Johnson.

Teaming up with world number one Rory McIlroy, Poulter reeled off five birdies on the final five holes which saw his pair overturn the Americans.

He was playing like a man possessed and had to show ice-cool composure to hole his final birdie, a 15-footer at the 18th which was needed for the win.

This made the score 10-6 before the singles, but such was the importance of the point Europe felt like they were on a level playing field.

Poulter then beat Simpson 2 up in the second singles match, one of eight Europeans to win in the amazing fightback.

He said: "This is history, it has been unbelievable."

Poole delighted as Lightning strike back to avenge Basingstoke loss

NICK Poole thinks that Sunday night's penalty shots victory over Basingstoke Bison came after Lightning's best performance of the season so far.

The player-coach was delighted after an understrength side saw off the Hampshire skaters at Planet Ice, with the shoot-out win following a 1-1 draw in the English Premier League/Cup contest.

Lightning needed to show great character to grab the win, as early table-toppers Basingstoke racked up an emphatic 5-0 victory on their own ice in the first part of the weekend's double header on Saturday.

Poole was happy with the defensive steel of his team who bounced back strongly after making sloppy mistakes just a day earlier.

Lightning had set out to defend in Basingstoke but went behind within the opening minute to leave their game plan in tatters.

But they refused to crumble to a second defeat as Adam Brittle stepped up to fire home the winning penalty.

Lukas Zatopek had got the only Lightning goal in regulation time.

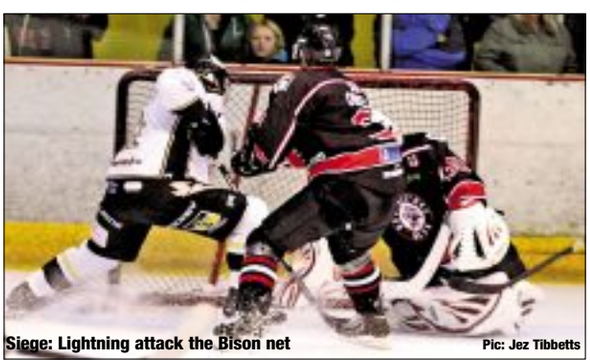
"I was really pleased with the Basingstoke win, particularly as we were so short-benched," Poole told MK SPORT.

"We haven't played that well in a long time and hopefully we have a platform to build from now."

Lightning have now picked up a pair of victories and a pair of defeats from their opening four competitive matches of the season, and Poole admitted that up until Sunday's win, he hadn't been thrilled with the start.

However, he ranks the shoot-out victory ahead of the emphatic 8-2 opening day win over Manchester Phoenix, despite the scoreline being far less comprehensive.

Both defeats suffered this year have occurred away from home but



Siege: Lightning attack the Bison net Pic: Jez Tibbetts

Poole backed his players to succeed on their travels.

This weekend his team face another double header, with home and away matches against Bracknell Bees on the schedule.

"Everyone feels better at home but we are a good travelling team and we will be again," Poole said.

"Bracknell are on a four game winning streak and are a tough team, so we need to be at our best."

Slough 19 Milton Keynes 30

MILTON Keynes claimed their first win of the season in the Southern Counties North thanks to a fine away win at Slough.

They had to come from behind though as two Slough tries saw the hosts race into a 12-0 lead, before a Phil Powell penalty and a try from Rob Matthews got MK on the board and reduced the arrears to 12-8 at half-time.

It was one way traffic after the break as Scott Aspinall, Darren Brodrick and Dan Rolfe went over to score, with MK backed up by Powell's boot before Slough added a late consolation.

The result leaves MK sixth in the standings.

Reading Abbey 28 Olney 8

OLNEY lost their first Southern Counties North match to table-toppers Reading Abbey in this battle between last year's relegated clubs.

In their first away game of the season Olney kicked a penalty to go in front, but Abbey responded with four converted first half tries to give them a commanding 28-3 half-time lead.

The second half was better with Olney keeping Abbey out, but they only had vice-captain John Robinson's try to show for their efforts.

•Bletchley lost for the fourth time in five matches in the South West 1 East after a narrow 27-24 home reverse to Coney Hill.

TENNIS

TWO young players were put through their paces at the Lawn Tennis Association's (LTA) national talent ID finals in Roehampton.

Michael Shaw, 13, who trains at David Lloyd Milton Keynes, and Lauren Armstrong, 11, from Halton Tennis Club, showed off their skills in front of coaches who are monitoring up and coming talent.

Ouesdale School pupil Michael said: "Some of the drills are really challenging which is good for my game."

SQUASH

SHENLEY Junior Squash Club entered 15 players into the County Closed Junior Championships in Aylesbury this weekend.

Oakgrove School's Joe Elfasi won the boys' U17 event and was runner-up in the U19 event, while Dylan Harris was fourth in both tournaments. Both players are nationally seeded.

In the girls' U15 tournament, 13-year-old Jemma Stanton was runner-up, losing out to England player Amy Jones who is ranked third in the country in that age group.

ATHLETICS

MK ATHLETIC Club's Jack Kee won the M70 category at the 'World' Hammer Decathlon Championships in Derby, after he racked up a total of 6,970 points for throwing hammers of various weights.

Meanwhile, M55 Mike Burling picked up a bronze medal for his total of 4,284 points.

COVENTRY 1 DONS 1 - LEAGUE ONE

DONS picked up a point at Coventry last night but will be bitterly disappointed that it wasn't all three after chances came and went at the Ricoh Arena.

Karl Robinson's side turned the screw in the second half but, and not for the first time this season, they failed to turn that dominance into goals.

Coventry had in fact been better before the break and they took the lead through Richard Wood, but Dons struck back through Stephen Gleeson's deflected effort.

Robinson's men were perhaps fortunate to be on terms at the break but it was Coventry who were thanking their stars at full-time after Dons drew a frustrating second half blank.

A sparsley populated stadium was the venue for the game against a Coventry side who, under new boss Mark Robins, are trying to rebuild after relegation from the Championship last term and a poor start to this season.

Teams often enjoy an upturn in form after the appointment of a new boss and the Sky Blues started brightly.

Barely a minute had passed when Carl Baker arrowed a volley towards the near corner, which David Martin did well to tip around the post.

Robins, who has been at the Coventry helm for less than a fortnight, started three new signings in his line-up and the boss probably thought that his side should have had a penalty when Dons defender Antony Kay appeared to have handled in the area.

Referee Robert Madley waved away the loud protests though and Dons then had a shout of their own at the other end when Charlie MacDonald, who had capitalised on some slack

Bullard inspired by Dons cameo

RETIRED Jimmy Bullard said he wasn't keen on getting into coaching until he signed for Dons.

The midfielder announced on Monday that he is hanging up his boots because of a long-term knee injury, just five weeks after signing for the club.

While admitting that he does not know what the future holds, the 33-year-old said that he has been inspired by Dons boss Karl Robinson and his staff.

"Coaching has always been a bit off-putting for me," the former Wigan and Fulham man told MK SPORT.

"But I came here and saw how they get things done, and suddenly it's really appealing. They play great football and I thought 'what a great job'."

Bullard penned a deal until New Year's Eve on August 28 but made just one start, against Northampton in the Johnstone's Paint Trophy.

He ruptured his cruciate ligaments twice in three years earlier in his career, first when he was at Fulham and then again on his debut for Hull in 2009.

Rumours that he would retire were rife when Dons beat Bury 4-1 last week, and a dead leg suffered against Northampton sidelined him again and made him question his future.

"Deep down, I didn't know how long I could carry on for," he said.

"I'm not good enough to perform at 50 per cent and my knee wasn't allowing me to carry on at the ability I wanted.

"I couldn't get into the team, although I still wonder now whether I have made the right decision.

"It was strange towards the end as it all happened quickly."

Robinson will help Bullard to start work on his coaching badges but for now he is expecting 'more golf, more fishing and more boredom'.

Bullard said that although it has just been five weeks, it felt like longer and that the club had left a mark on him.

"They've done very well to get Karl and will do very well to keep him," he said.

"The chairman isn't messing about and there are players who are too good for League One. It's set for top flight."
